"The Geometry of One-Sided Love”

How a one sided love feels like,,,,
It's like a.....

Like a parallel line,
We stay on the same plane in equal distance,
No matter how long we go, we never meet.

Like intersecting lines,
We stay on the same plane, we know each other a little bit,
We crossed our paths but never saw each other back.

Like perpendicular lines,
We are moving on the same road,
We meet on a corner, we make eye contact,
Then we disappear like it was just a coincidence.

Like a transversal line,
We are going on the road,
We meet each other at different spots many times,
Till all times, till the end of time.

Like coincident lines,
We both are moving on the same road ,
I am walking in your steps with just a coincidence.

Like skew lines,
We exist in space, but never share the same plane,
We Never meet, never cross, yet still feel strangely aligned,
As if fate drew us close, but not close enough to touch.

26 july 2025
Kunal Raj

© 2025 Kunal Raj. All rights reserved.
This is an original poem written by Kunal Raj. Unauthorized use or copying is prohibited.
And will lead to legal actions.